Why is kidney research so important?

Kidney disease affects millions of people without early warning signs. Research is vital to improve early diagnosis, develop better treatments, and enhance the quality of life for those living with kidney conditions

How can you help?

Your experiences, ideas and questions are essential. By joining us, you'll have the chance to:

- share your perspective and help shape future kidney research
- take part in discussions and learn about kidney care
- connect with researchers, patients, and healthcare professionals

Your contributions can directly influence new discoveries and better care!

What's new in kidney health?

At this event, you'll hear about the latest research, new technologies, and innovative approaches that are shaping the future of kidney care.

Our team will share updates on exciting studies, from early detection to patient-centred therapies
