DAYLife

- Launched in 2019 as a regional programme
- Piloted in East and West Midlands for a year – Paused due to COVID
- Relaunched in November 2022 as a national programme

Aims

- All kidney centres in the UK to engage and actively participate in quality improvement work around home dialysis therapy by December 2025

- All centres to achieve a minimum of 20-25% of their prevalent dialysis patients to be on a home therapy by December 2027

- Centres currently achieving the target of 20% to continue to demonstrate incremental improvement in the proportion of patients on home dialysis year on year.

Workstreams

- Shared Haemodialysis Care
- Patient peer support
- Psychosocial support
- Patient Education and Shared decision making

Shared Haemodialysis Care increased HHD uptake

A breakthrough series collaborative to increase patient participation with hemodialysis tasks: A stepped wedge cluster randomised controlled trial

James Fotheringham[1], Tania Barnes[1], Louese Dunn[1], Sonia Lee[1], Steven Ariss[2], Tracey Young[2], Stephen J. Walters[2], Paul Laboi[3], Andy Henwood[3], Rachel Gair[4], Martin Wilkie[1]*

Conclusions

Our intervention did not increase dialysis related tasks being performed by a prevalent population of centre based patients, but there was an increase in home hemodialysis as well as an increase in tasks among patients who were doing fewer than 5 at baseline. Further studies are required that examine interventions to engage people who dialyse at centres in their own care.

PLOS ONE | https://doi.org/10.1371/journal.pone.0253966 July 20, 2021

Independent or Home dialysis increased from 7.5% to 11.6%

Aims of the Shared Care Mentoring Programme

- Establish a mentoring scheme to facilitate the adoption, maintenance and structured growth of shared haemodialysis care in pilot renal centres.
- Evaluate the effectiveness, benefits, challenges and the scalability of the mentoring scheme in driving forward shared care across all the renal centres.
- Develop shared care training and mentoring capability to ensure sustainability
